

Resume of the Fourth meeting in the Climate Assembly at SAMF – 29. November 2023

Purpose

The purpose of this meeting was to get as close to the final recommendations as possible.

Welcome

Reflections and adaptations from the open assembly

Assembly members had received feedback from the Open Assembly and feedback from SAMF on the recommendations.

The assembly broke into groups and the people who had attended the open assembly updated those who had not been able to attend on the input and discussion from the open assembly.

After reading the new inputs, they discussed what was missing in the recommendations and if there was anything that needed to be changed.

The participants then divided into pairs and worked on the wording of the recommendations.

Feedback round.

All the recommendations were printed out and posted on the wall. Participants then went around the room, read the recommendations and gave feedback on whether they agreed or not using a 'smiley' scale.

 I love it!	 I like it	 I can support it	 I disagree	 I won't support it

Elaborate and finishing the recommendations.

The meeting reconvened in new groups and adapted the recommendations to take into account the feedback and criticism from the smiley feedback. They focused on making changes to the recommendations so that those who couldn't support them could now.

Status and process from here

We Do Democracy explained the process of how the recommendations would be edited after the assembly.

An editorial team was formed, and their job is to edit the recommendations to make sure that they are understandable, clear and that the meaning is easily understood.

There will also be an online voting-process where all members will vote for the recommendation they can accept, and based on that, the final recommendations will be defined and prioritized.

To evaluate the process, there will be an assessment form for all members, but SAMF will also conduct interviews with about 10 members. have a separate assessment in the form of interviews that members can sign up for.

The launch date for the recommendations is 18 January.

Thank you for tonight.
